

(ii) is carried on or completed otherwise than in accordance with the particulars on which such permission was based, or

(iii) is carried on or completed in contravention of any lawful order or breach of any provision of this Act or any rule or bye-law made under it, or of any direction or requisition lawfully given or made, or

(b) if any alterations or additions required by any notice issued under section 318 or section 330 are not duly made, or

(c) if any person to whom a direction is given by the commissioner to alter or demolish a building or well under section 331 fails to obey such direction, the owner of the building or well or the said person, as the case may be, shall be liable on conviction to a fine which may extend in the case of a well or hut to fifty rupees and in the case of any other building to five hundred rupees, and to a further fine which may extend in the case of a well or hut to ten rupees and in the case of any other building to one hundred rupees for each day during which the offence is proved to have continued after the first day.

447. Notice to certain class of officers and servants of the corporation before discharge.—(1) In the absence of a written contract to the contrary, every officer or servant of the corporation whose functions concern the public health and safety shall be entitled to one month's notice before discharge or to one month's wages in lieu thereof, unless he is discharged for misconduct or was engaged for a specified term and discharged at the end of it.

(2) Should any such officer or servant employed by the corporation in the absence of a written contract authorising him so to do, and without reasonable cause, resigns his employment or absents himself from his duties without giving one month's notice to the corporation or neglects or refuses to perform his duties or any of them, he shall be liable, on conviction, to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees or to imprisonment of either description which may extend to two months.

448. Wrongful restraint of commissioner and his delegates.—Every person who prevents the commissioner or any person to whom the commissioner has lawfully delegated his power from exercising his power of entering on any land or into any building shall be deemed to have committed an offence under section 341 of the Indian Penal Code.

449.—Penalty for not giving information or giving false information.—If any person who is required by the provisions of this Act or by any notice or other proceedings issued under this Act to furnish any information—

(a) omits to furnish it, or

(b) knowingly or negligently furnishes false information, such person shall, on conviction, be punished with fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

450. Penalty for disobeying requisition under section 159 and Schedule X.—Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to comply with any requisition lawfully made upon him under section 159, and Schedule X shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees :

Provided that no proceedings under this section shall be instituted except with the written sanction of the commissioner :

Provided further that before giving such sanction the commissioner shall call upon the person against whom the proceedings are to be instituted to show cause why the sanction should not be given.
